

Bright's Disease

is a disease, the thought of which holds terrors for most people, yet all cases are not necessarily fatal. Bright's disease follows neglect of the early stages of kidney disease and failure to take a good efficient remedy and correct kidney trouble in its incipency.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy has proved most effective in the condition which makes possible the insidious advances of disease of the kidneys when taken in time. Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy has brought welcome relief and a return to health to sufferers for over 36 years, as thousands testify.

FIRST BOOKLOVER'S PICTURE; WHAT TITLE IS REPRESENTED?

Fun and $1,200 both in store for participants in The Times-Dispatch's Great Game!

Have you named the book title that Booklover's Contest picture No. 1 represents? The contest starts to-day, and you will find picture No. 1 by turning over the pages of today's paper. This picture represents the title of a book, and is the first of a series of seventy-seven pictures, each of which will represent the title of a book. Each day for seventy-seven days a picture will be published in The Times-Dispatch.

Contestants simply clip the pictures from the paper each day, save them, and turn them all in together after the seventy-seventh picture has appeared. Those coming closest to naming the seventy-seven book titles represented by the seventy-seven pictures actually will receive the $1,200 in awards. Today's picture is the most important one of the contest. If you get started right you will continue right and end right. If you fall into the trap of looking at the picture in the right way from the beginning, you will continue to solve them day after day as they appear, and at the end of the contest be ready to take your award!

After cutting out today's picture, read carefully the announcement of the rules and prizes, on the same page. You have fair and square these rules are. The Times-Dispatch is presenting this game simply with the idea of entertaining its readers, so there is no reason why the rules should not be just and easy to follow. It's a novel idea, this of having a contest in which there is no work of any kind!

There is no canvassing or soliciting, none of the usual "contest" drudgery about this game.

You simply clip the seventy-seven pictures from The Times-Dispatch, and after the last one has appeared you send or bring them all in together with your answers to each one. Then the sets are checked over, and those coming closest to naming the seventy-seven correct titles that the seventy-seven pictures represent are, of course, the winners. That's all there is to it. Why, you do not even have to be a subscriber in order to compete with just as much chance as any one.

Of course, you probably will be a subscriber, because it is cheaper to subscribe to the paper than to buy it.

ENGLISH PEOPLE ARE APATHETIC TOWARD POLITICS

Majority of Thinking Voters Have Become Disgusted.

BLAME LARGELY RESTS ON TORIES

Leaders of Both Parties Are Confused, and Whole Political Future Seems Hopelessly Muddled—No Signs of Any Moses for Pilot in Wilderness.

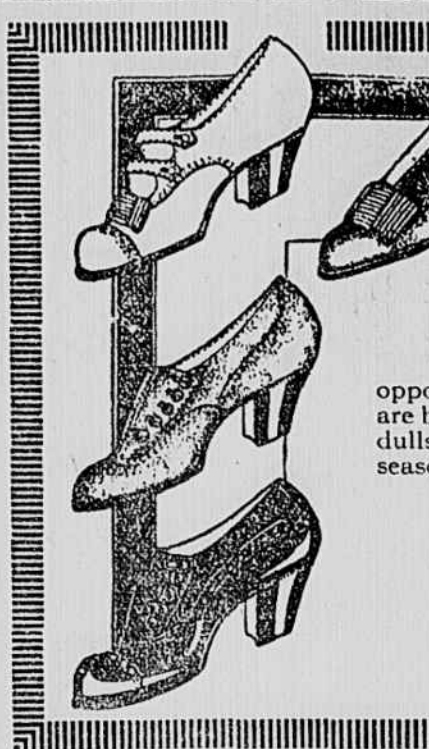

By PHILIP EVERETT.

London, July 26.—The parliamentary season is drawing towards its close, and the members of both sides, after the merciless prodding of the government, almost without exception feel as if in all England it would be utterly impossible to find a set of harder working men and imagine that the lot of the average coal miner is far preferable to their own. Unfortunately, this opinion is not shared by the general public, whose opinion of the whole of it from January to December is a word that has dubbed you a "politician."

No One Satisfied. On August 16, an anti-rate. If not sooner, our politicians will leave London and scatter all over the country, greatly relieved that a session is over, which, though it has been a very strenuous one, has not given any great satisfaction to either party, while it has filled the majority of thinking voters with a feeling of disgust and an absolute apathy towards politics.

It cannot be denied that the Tories alone are to blame for that, because, by their obstructionist tactics, they made the Parliament act necessary, the result of which is that all important bills of a constructive nature are examined into the first two sessions, while the third Parliament will have nothing to do but formally pass bills which ought to have become laws long before.

At present the leaders of both parties are all confused, for the political future looks hopelessly muddled. The present government has a definite program to carry out, but beyond that nothing is settled. And the conservatives, on the other side, who had hoped that a strong public opinion would overthrow the government, are disappointed, for in their inmost hearts they are forced to admit that there exists no political public opinion in England. To keep the parliamentary force going, voters, excited and enthusiastic voters, are necessary, but Petersburg, Va., July 26.—The Farmers' Union of Dinwiddie is arranging for an all-day picnic at Dinwiddie Courthouse on Thursday of next week. The county union is composed of six subordinate unions, and the members will bring their families to the picnic, which is to be a big affair.

State President D. M. Gannaway will be the principal speaker of the day, but there will be others to speak. The three candidates for the Legislature—John W. Harris, R. L. Wilson and Charles F. Smith—will be on the grounds, and though the union is a nonpartisan organization, will doubtless be invited to speak and give expression of their views on public questions. Candidate Smith is president of the county union.

Negro Is Injured.

George Coles, colored, employed on the Seaboard Air Line at Butterworth, Dinwiddie County, was probably fatally injured near Butterworth this evening by jumping from an engine on which he was riding. The engine was going at a moderate rate of speed when Coles jumped. He struck on his head and received severe injuries. He was brought to Petersburg on a special engine and taken to the hospital, where he was examined by physicians, and was found to be suffering from concussion of the brain.

Jailed for False Pretense.

A young white man, giving his name as Charles Gregory, a stranger in the city, was given a sentence of sixty days in jail in the Police Court this morning for obtaining money under false pretenses. Representing himself as a Canadian Presbyterian, and as such, he must be held excused for a certain amount of haziness in regard to the right either to apply to the church in England and Wales. Yet to call a church "Protestant" which nowhere has so called itself, is to be guilty of a misstatement, which is not careful not to repeat. He has offended many churchmen by his use of his offensive adjective—we mean offensive in this connection.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Vellie Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by Tragle Drug Co. under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil, get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

Company, he took orders for bags and barrels of that flour with the promise of crockery prizes to the purchasers on payment of a cash advance. It is said that he made a number of sales from house to house before caught by the police. He confessed to the swindling charge, and said he had been working here and elsewhere in company with another man. The accused is a young man of good appearance, and is believed to have given a false name.

Arranging for Corner Stone.

The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. is making arrangements for the laying of the corner stone of the new building, work on which will have sufficiently progressed to permit the ceremony in the early fall. The occasion is to be made one of special interest and impressiveness. Henry C. Stuart, Democratic candidate for Governor of Virginia, will probably deliver the address. The stone will be laid with Masonic ceremonies.

Maintains His Innocence.

Waverly Blanks, the young white man held in jail awaiting trial on the charge of killing George W. Nunnally, an engineer of the Norfolk and Western Railway, several weeks ago, has nearly recovered from the gunshot wound received at the time of the tragedy. Blanks has always maintained that Nunnally first shot him and then shot himself. Both shots were fired from Nunnally's pistol. The shooting occurred in Nunnally's room, with no one else present except the two men. There was circumstantial evidence to connect Blanks with the shooting, and on this evidence he was held responsible by the coroner's jury. The coroner probably did not come to trial before September.
